7. General Updates

- CAEAR Coalition – CM Jewell
  - House appropriators have advanced six of the 12 fiscal year 2025 (FY2025) subcommittee spending bills after approving topline spending levels on May 23. Democrats criticized the proposals for being below the negotiated statutory spending caps. The proposed House

Appropriations Committee (HAC) bills would cut the Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, and Related Agencies (LHHS) budget by 11%. The Senate is unlikely to approve cuts exceeding these caps. The HAC aims to pass FY2025 spending bills by the August recess, with the LHHS subcommittee markup on June 27 and a full committee markup on July 10. The finalization of the bills is targeted for the week of July 29.

- HHS – CM Blum

8. Food – Paul Hepfer

- Paul Hepfer provides an overview of Project Open Hand's (POH) services, mission, and history. POH began by providing nutritious meals to people with AIDS and has since expanded to serve individuals with various health conditions. The timeline of POH's growth is covered, along with future plans, including creating a Client-Centered Nutrition Home model driven by client needs and scientific evidence. The presentation also discusses the demographics of POH clients and addresses issues of food and nutrition insecurity, highlighting the importance of "Food is Medicine" interventions, especially for older adults with chronic health conditions.
  - CM Guillen thanks Hepfer for recognizing HIV long-term survivors. He asks if POH has ever worked with harm reduction groups.
    - ❖ Hepfer says he has thought about it and there's some early research about food's role in recovery. He would like to be involved in future pilots with PWUD and who could use medically tailored nutrition.
  - CM Sullivan thanks POH for their work and spoke to how nutrition played an integral role in his recovery.
  - CM Vasquez asks for the percentage breakdown of the counties they serve.
    - ❖ Hepfer says Contra Costa County is a small percentage, about 5%. San Francisco County is about 70-75%.

- CM Chevalier asks about wellness and referring patients. 1) Is it based on severity or diagnosis? 2) What is the turnaround time for clients to be served?
  - ❖ Hepfer says 1) in terms of severity, the provider needs to believe that you're compromised in some way. He said the referral process for CalAIM is the referral needs to be placed by the provider to the health plan and the referral is then sent to POH. 2) The turnaround time is typically 3 days to get food to clients.
- CM Thomas asks if the CalAIM reimbursement is sufficient.
  - ❖ Hepfer says it's dependent on the county. In Contra Costa County, it's not sufficient. In Alameda County, it's decent. In SF County, it is sufficient. He said the direct cost to buy raw food is sufficient, but MediCal doesn't cover the infrastructure associated with it.
- CM Lin notes she's been referring patients to POH, and asks if the HIV program is distinct from the medically-tailored meals.
  - ❖ Hepfer says PLWH get the same meals as the medically-tailored folks, and their clients with HIV get more and a higher level of service because they are not discharged after 12 weeks.
- CM Blum asks for more information on what CalAIM specifically funds and wants more information on volunteer opportunities.
  - ❖ Hepfer says CalAIM covers various service categories such as home modifications, home health, hospice, medically tailored meals and groceries, enhanced care management. Hepfer says volunteer opportunities can be found on the POH website.

11. CQI/Quality Assurance – John Aynsley

- John Aynsley provides the Clinical Quality Improvement (CQI) Program report. He reviews the purpose, goals, and activities of the CQI and quality assurance process. Aynsley highlights that the CQI program works to assess, plan, and improve HIV services in San Francisco. The goal is to analyze key HRSA quality indicators, utilize data to improve health outcomes, report out to Federal, State, and Planning bodies, and to use the data for individual program performance valuation. Aynsley reviews how EPIC and ARIES are used to extract data. The CQI's activities include continuous data collection improvements, and improving viral load suppression in all clients. Aynsley notes that since 2020 they have been focusing on increasing viral load suppression in the Black/African American community, and since 2022, have also increased their focus in increasing viral suppression for folks experiencing homelessness. Aynsley discusses the CQI performance measures including retention in care, ART prescriptions, and viral suppression.

- CM Griffin says when discussing ARIES and EPIC communication issues, there was some concern about the retention care numbers and asks if it's because the systems are no longer communicating?
  - ❖ Aynsley notes that they hired data entry folks to manually enter the data. He notes the issue with the retention data is that it's harder to extract the data out than it is to input it.

12. Standards of Care Update – VOTE

- Robert Whirry provides updates on the Ryan White Standards of Care (SOC), which outline service parameters for each service category. He provides a brief overview of why and how the updates to the SOC are happening. Whirry reviews the updated SOC for Hospice, Food Bank/Home Delivered Meals, Mental Health, Emergency Financial Assistance, Outreach, and Outpatient/Ambulatory Health Services.
- CS Molnar notes there is a motion on the floor from the Steering Committee to accept all SOC as a slate.
  - CM Reina Hernandez notes that for the Outpatient/Ambulatory Services SOC, that non-urgent appointment requests should be done within 60 days. They note they commonly see this being fulfilled within 30 days and they ask what informed the 60-day timeline.
    - ❖ Whirry notes the 60-day timeline is what is in the State's standard. He said he can run the 30-day timeline by the providers and nurses that gave input in the SOC. Whirry will report back on the timeline.
